THE ONGOING SAGA OF SALEM STREET in Wilmington construction has prompted a jokester to place a "Big Dig" sign on Salem Street near Cunningham Street. Public Works Superintendent Donald Onusseit told the Town Crier that the coordination between the contractor and Amtrak has led to continual delays. The contractor is still working on the first set of tracks with yet another left to do. Onusseit is "not optimistic" about the project being finished in September. The project started July 20th and was supposed to be completed in 10 days. The road closure has wreaked havoc upon Wilmington and Tewksbury motorists passiing between the two towns.

Passed as an amendment to the 1990 state budget, the 10-mile limit was meant to keep Merrimack Valley liquor stores competitive with those in New Hampshire on Sundays. It allows liquor stores in towns located within 10 miles of the New Hampshire border to open on Sundays. Since then, many local liquor stores say that Sunday has become one of their most lucrative days of the week. While only a small portion of Wilmington is within the 10-mile limit any liquor store in Wilmington can receive permission to open on Sunday. This makes Eastgate Liquors one of the southernmost Sunday liquor outlets.

Boston to New York

Several local residents join in AIDS ride

BOSTON - Several local residents will be among the than 3,000 riders partcipating in the upcoming Boston to New York AIDS bicycle ride.

The ride is aimed at raising funds and awareness to support people afflicted with the syndrome, and to continue educational efforts to combat its spread and perhaps find a cure for the affliction.

The ride is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 17 to Saturday, Sept. 19.

Among the local riders will · Krystin Elliott, Wilmington, who saw the opening ceremonies last year she was so impressed she volunteered to ride this year.

· Lisa Gain of Woburn, a volunteer for the AIDS Action Committee who has seen the devastating effects of the dis-chester, an employee at an area community hospital who would like to see all receive the proper care.

· Steven Sbardella of Winchester, an emergency room physician who would also like to see improved care for all.

The ride, one of five in the sponsored Tangueray, will cover the 275 mile course in three days.

It requires a gigantic effort to house, feed and support the 3,000 riders expected to participate. These needs are met by an army of 1800 volunteers led by a Race Staff of 750, including a medical team with all their necessary supplies.

The riders themselves are committed to the effort, some of them are HIV positive, others have had friends or family members suffer the disease, and others who see an opportunity to help, and do so.

Since the inaugural Califor-Debørah Rogers of Win- nia AIDS ride in 1994, the Rides have grossed nearly $87 million. $27 million was raised last year when an estimated 11,000 riders, each of whom had raised at least $1,500 in contributions, participated in one of the five AIDS Rides across the country.

Not only does the Ride's effort raise much needed funding for people living with AIDS, but it also deepens the commitment of those fighting the disease, and helps raise awareness of AIDS, say sponsors.

The Ride is designed to keep AIDS awareness high as supporters claim that disclosures about successful drug treat-ments have diminished the sense of urgency in funding research and patient support.

The need is still acute. Aids remains the second leading cause of death among Americans between the ages of 28 to 44. The Center for Disease Control estimated last year that 259,000 people are now living with Aids.

The expectations for the September Aids Ride are that the funds raised should equal or surpass the $27 Million raised in 1997. Net proceeds from the event will benefit 71 HIV and AIDS service organizations that continue to do the important work of serving people living with Aids.

For information about joining the Aids Ride, becoming a volunteer or making a donation can be obtained by calling 800-825-1000, or by visiting the Ride's web site http://www.aidsride.org

KEEP MUTUAL FUND RECORDS

With most investments, it's easy to keep your original purchase slip or brokers statement and the sale memo. Balance the two, and there's your net gain or loss. It's not so easy with a mutual fund.

Most investors roll over to buy more shares in the fund. The dividends are reported and taxed each year. What happens when the fund shares are sold? Too many investors forget about reinvestments and declare a net gain on the difference between the total sale price and the original investment. Smarter: total the reinvestments - on which taxes have already been paid and add them to the original cost basis. Result: a smaller tax bill.

If you want to cash in part of your account, you can identify the particular shares you want to sell, usually those with the highest purchase price - minimizing the gain and thus the tax bite. (but if you've already sold some on an average - price method, you must continue that way.)

You keep the paperwork, we put the numbers together. We're your tax and finance professionals at ..

IN THE YEAR OF THE NEGATIVE AD, MEET A POSITIVE VOICE: JIM MICELI

It's often been said that in politics when you have nothing positive to say about yourself, attack your opponent.

This year, only one candidate for State Representative has talked positively about himself, about what he's done, and about what he'll do if elected.

That candidate is Jim Miceli.

During this campaign,
Jim has garnered the support of thousands of people in the district by talking both about his past achievements and his future goals.

HIS RECORD SPEAKS FOR ITSELF:

- ✓ Worked for funding in both towns to make the Education Reform Act work. Endorsed by nine school committee members in both towns. Has given scholarships at both high school graduations every year.
- ✓ Voted for the largest tax cut in the history of the Commonwealth. Consistent opponent of all new taxes.
- Able to deliver. Has secured new water treatment plants, funding for libraries, bridges, traffic lights, school construction funding, and funding for councils on aging.
- ✓ Supported and voted for H.M.O. reform legislation.
- ✓ Voted for the death penalty. Helped to enact the sex offender registry bill.
- ✓ Voted to fund environmental protection legislation which included open space preservation, ground and drinking water protection and town sewerage loan programs.
- ✓ Endorsed by the Wilmington and Tewksbury Advertiser.

  Their editorial concluded by saying, "The residents of Tewksbury and Wilmington would be best served by keeping James Miceli on Beacon Hill."
- ✓ Has had an average attendance record of 96% while serving in the legislature.

eight inches long and threefourths of an inch wide, capped-off with blue tape and screws and a fuse device.

Police sent the device to undergo testing at the State Police Laboratory to determine the ingredients used to produce the explosive. "We believe that the creator used low- explosive gunpowder," Bolton said, "But we are awaiting the results of the tests before we make conclusions."

When asked the potential dangerous effects of the bomb, Bolton said, "If anyone had picked this up and it was set off, it could probably blow your hand off or even kill in the case, but do not believe the bomb was placed intentionally in front of the Harmon home. "We do not believe that it had anything to do with them," Bolton said, "We suspect it may have been discarded from a vehicle passing by the home. Someone who just wanted to get rid of it."

Police state the pipe bomb incident is the first of it's kind in a long time in Tewksbury. However, pipe bombs have become more of a commonplace in the age of the internet. Experts assert the num ber of pipe bomb incidents are on the rise due to the fact that anyone with internet access and the necessary materials can construct such a device in their home in a fairly short period of time. If activated, pipe bombs may cause any thing from severe injury to death.

In fact, pipe bombs are so easy to construct, the directions and ingredients consume only one page on an internet site. Even a small child with internet access and the Police do not have any suspects right equipment could follow the easy steps to construing an explosive device such as the one found on Whittemore St.

Bolton advises anyone who comes in contact with a pipe bomb to stay at least 300 feet away from the device and call police immediately. " Never touch it or pick it up, immediately call 911."

Deaf Awareness and You

WILMINGTON - Karen Glickman who was born deaf, will present "Deaf Awareness and You" on Thursday, September 24, at 7 p.m. at Wilmington Memorial Library. Through this program, young children kindergarten through fourth grade, can gain insight into American sign language, deaf culture, interpreters, hearing dogs and TTYs. This program is funded by the Wilmington Arts Council supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council.

Time for twos

Thursday, September 17 at 10 a.m. This storytime is a drop-in program for finger plays, songs, flannel board stories and books for two-year-olds accompanied by an adult.

World War II Books

The recent movie Saving Private Ryan has sparked a renewed interest in books about World War Il especially books about D-Day Check out D-Day June 6, 1944: The Climatic Battle of World War II by Stephen E. Ambrose. The author of this book was the historical consultant to Stephen Speilberg's film. The library also has the classic book The Longest Day: June 6, 1944 by Cornelius Ryan and a recently received new title - Neptune Rex: Naval Stories of the Normandy Invasion, June 6, 1944.

New Internet

workstations

The library now has two pcs connected to the Internet through our membership in the Meritanack Valley Library Consortium (MVLC). The Internet allows patrons to access information and services from thousands of computers located around the world. At the two Internet workstations, patrons can also choose to search the online catalog which includes the holdings of the 29 member libraries, the Noble online catalog which includes the Reading Public Library's holdings or magazine and newspaper databases.

Patrons are required to sign up at the reference desk and be familiar with the library's Internet policy and guidelines. Although the vast majority of Internet sites are safe, parents should be aware that the Internet contains sites which may not be appropriate for children. As with other library materials, parents and legal guardians, not the library staff, are responsible for the Internet information selected and/or assessed by their children Parents are encouraged to explore the Internet with their children, teach them to follow on line safety rules, and teach them to use the Internet responsibly when visiting the library alone.

Bookends

Bookends members gave mixed reviews to Beloved by Toni Morrison at their discussion last Thursday evening. This book received twothumbs up, two thumbs down and one sideways vote. The book that will be discussed at the October meeting of Bookends is Color of Water by James McBride. Copies are available at the library.

In regard to other issues, both Miceli and Newhouse support open space preservation plans. Miceli said he filed an article for Wilmington Town Meeting which resulted in the town taking 154 acres, which Miceli said is the towns largest acquisition of open space lands. In Tewksbury, Miceli owned land to the town.

Newhouse advocates setting aside a percentage of the state tax HMO's are penalized for poor on real estate transfers, to be reinvested in acquiring open space in the community where the property is located.

In regard to managed health be no financial incentives for providers that affect patients, that HMO's have to be forced to respond to complaints about service and coverage as quickly as possible, and that HMO's should provide places where their members can go to get information and have their complaints heard.

Newhouse has said that patients transferred 60 acres of state must have the right to sue HMO's, and that an oversight board must be created in order to ensure that quality care for the sake of profit. Candidates answers to questions posed by the League of Women

An employee of Eastgate Liquors mentioned that, on Sundays, just before noon, customers line up at the door to get in.

Despite such boasts of success, not every liquor store owner is enamored of staying open on Sundays, including Paul Hartnett, coowner of Hobart's Country Store, 2514 Main St., Tewksbury.

Hartnett said he'd prefer to close the store on Sundays, but that in order to remain competitive with area stores he must keep it open.

According to Hartnett, half of his business is liquor sales. While Sunday sales of liquor make up only a small percentage of the store's total weekly liquor sales, it's enough to necessitate keeping the store open on Sundays, Hart-

Joe Aubut, owner of Aubut's Liquors, 1768 Main St., Tewksbury, said that while most store owners would rather stay home on Sunday, liquor sales is a service industry, and as such it must be made available to the public at their convenience.

DeMoulas admits that no one wants to work on Sundays, but points to the supermarket neighboring his store as an example of why maintaining Sunday hours is so important.

According to Demoulas, the supermarket located next to his store opens at 8 a.m. on Sunday, and by the time he opens Wilmington Plaza Wines and Spirits at noon, the parking lot is packed with the cars of supermarket

Latin returns to the high school

by ANTHONY SZABO

WILMINGTON - Wilmington High School is the site of some new and exciting changes this year. Among the many new faces of incoming freshmen are also the faces of a number of new teachers, some of whom are new to the high school and others who are returning from other schools in the system. Other changes this year include new course offerings and a new block scheduling system.

A number of different departments are welcoming new teachers to the high school this year including: Mr. Joseph Kleponis in the English Department, Mr. David Pinette in Technology Education, Mr. Scott Ferguson and Mr. Mark

Ms. Nancy Goldman and Mr. Stephen Lynch in the Social Studies Department, and Ms. Louise Netten in the World Languages Depart-

Mr. Kleponis and Ms. Netten are joining their respective high school departments from the middle school level while Mr. Pinette, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Riley, Ms. Goldman and Mr. Lynch are new to the Wilmington School system.

Along with the new teachers are some new course offerings at WHS including Voice and Public Speaking, Chinese, the Civil War and Historical issues, and Latin II Honors. Voice and Public Speaking is a semester course in which students learn the theory and practice of the art of rhetoric culminating in a 15 minute prepared speech at the close to the curriculum by the World Languages Department in an effort to broaden its offerings beyond the traditional French and Spanish. The Civil War and Historical Issues course is a full year course with one semester focusing on the Civil War and the other semester focusing on historical issues such as the Holocaust and the Civil Rights movement. Latin II Honors is proof that Latin has made a triumphant return to the High school. The language returned with Latin I last year after an absence of almost 20 vears. Judging from the success of population. last year's Latin I classes, it was language and thus was born Latin

Also new at the high school is a

Riley in the Science Department, of the semester. Chinese was added new block scheduling system. The new system, instead of rotating the 90 minute block class each day, keeps it constant at fourth period with each class meeting fourth period once every seven days. The theory is the same; more uninterrupted class time equals more learning, but the practice is a bit different this year. Though the system used last year was very successful, this year, the high school has three lunch periods instead of two. The addition of a third lunch period was necessary because of the constantly growing size of the WHS student

Though many things are changdecided that there should be a course ing at the high school this year, to continue the study of this ancient there are still many which are staying the same. Students are still promised seven classes a day and a hot lunch, the rest, however, is up to them.

Block scheduling explained It all depends on when lunch is

by COLLEEN MURPHY

WILMINGTON - This year the students at Wilmington High School scheduling. Block Scheduling alspecial projects, experiments, research, etc. If you have a subject for 90 minutes one day, you will not have it the following day.

This year the block scheduling student lunches. Every period is 45 minutes accept for the period that falls during the lunch periods. That lunch period is two hours long. minutes of lunch for the students now, it will, and teachers. What lunch you go to depends on what subject you have that period.

For example, Day 1 goes Period are experiencing a new type of block 2, 3, 4, 1, 5, 6. Period one is in the middle of the day because it gives lows students 90 minutes in one the period one teacher 90 minutes subject a day, while the rest of their of class time and then lunch all in classes are 45 minutes. This allows one period of the day. Each day is teachers ample time to complete different. For example, on Day 7, 7th period is in the middle of the day. All of the other periods of the day are shifted around to accommodate whatever day it is.

This has been worked on for revolves around the fact that Wilm- many months by the administraington High School now has three tion of Wilmington High School. The school committee, and the superintendent. A lot of hard work has been put into it and it shows. It has been created to help benefit our Ninety minutes of class time and 30 education, and as it looks right

With the start of school came many changes, this being the most dramatic of all. To some students it was confusing, but as the school year continues, many will adjust to the change. "It is confusing because it is very different from Junior High. Depending on what day it is, I am not sure where I am supposed to be and what lunch I am supposed to be at. But I know that I'll eventually get used to it." says freshman Katie Murphy. "Right now it is a little hard to follow, but once I get used to it, I'm sure that it will probably get better," says junior Kim Smith.

I hope that all students and parents will come to understand this new block scheduling. I hope that my article was informative. Good luck this year.

Interchange won't be ready by Oct. 1999

By JAMES HAGGERTY

WOBURN — Work on the new interchange from Route 93 to Commerce Way in the northeast corner of the city is progressing, but at least one city official doesn't see the current October 1999 scheduled opening being met.

Woburn Redevelopment Authority Chair John Marlowe said his observation comes after recent discussions with officials from the Massachusetts Highway Department.

Marlowe said he didn't want to hazard a guess as to when the work would be done, but said it wouldn't be October of

"It is moving ahead," Marlowe said of the work, but noted it is not moving at a speed that would have the work done in just over a year.

The October 1999 opening date has been listed as important to coincide with the scheduled opening of the large Target retail store set to anchor one of the larger parcels in Target has said it only opens stores on select dates over the course of the year and was pushing for the October 1999 opening for the Woburn location.

However, a condition of the special permit from the City Council will not allow the store to open before the inter-

A representative of National Development of New England, the firm brokering the deal with many of the parcels in the area including the Target site, simply said they are still hopeful on a fall 1999 date, but acknowled more like spring of 2000 for the Target opening.

Marlowe has been providing regular updates on the interchange to fellow WRA members since they got involved in funding part of the design work for the new ramp.

Regional transportation center

Marlowe also noted that work on the new regional transportation center is progressing with the state now reaching the 75 percent design stage.

The project calls for parking for some 2,400 cars along with a train stop and a Logan Express to help take some vehicles off the road from the north heading into Boston.

Although the project seems massive, Marlowe noted that once construction starts it should progress quickly. Member Richard O'Rourke questioned if there would be any more public hearings on the regional transportation

He said the state should review the need for an emergency access road over the railroad tracks to the new facil-

Without the emergency access, emergency vehicles from North Woburn have to wind their way around, instead of making a straight shot down Merrimac Street. This, O'Rourke said, could ultimately lead to the city having to build another fire station to service this area.

O'Rourke stressed that such a bridge over the railroad tracks should be for emergency access only and not for regular commuters.

This, Marlowe noted, also opens the question as to whether there would be a drop off and pickup location on the westerly side of the tracks for North Woburn residents.

The plans are pretty far along, Marlowe noted, and there are plans for neither the emergency access or the drop off. Marlowe, however, said he would try to contact the appropriate officials to at least raise the questions. State officials are hoping to have the regional transportation center open about the same time the interchange is

The Lowell Sun

"But when a district has a representative who has served them well and who has the seniority, which is the currency of Beacon Hill, they should return that representative.

This is the case in this election where Rep. Jim Miceli should be returned to the Legislature. Miceli is a proven leader, a proven visionary and a lawmaker with a record that he and his constituents can be proud of. He proved during the fight for the widening of Route 3 that he has what it takes to be a regional leader of the delegation. With the exit of Ed LeLacheur we look for him joining with others in creating a strong regional delegation."

The Tewksbury and Wilmington Advertiser 9/2/98

"After interviewing the candidates and reviewing their records, the Advertiser believes the district would be best served by keeping Miceli in the Statehouse.

Miceli is the vice chairman of the Post Audit and Oversight Committee, a position that gives him access to legislative and administrative officials. # A tough act to follow

BY JAMIE POTE

Sports Editor It's always hard to follow up one of the most magical seasons ever, whether you are a player, a coach or what have you. Everyone knows that last year's boys soccer season was a ride that will never be forgotten. And the obvious, but unfair, question now remains, can this year's team get back to that state championship game it did a year

"I really don't know," said long time head coach Dick Scanlon. "So far in scrimmages we have had flashes of last year's team where we look really, really good and then we have flashes where we look hor-

"We lost three very good captains and many others who were vital from last year's team. I don't think anyone realizes what Jeff Arciero meant to us. He was an All-Scholastic player for both the [Boston] Herald and Globe and he was an Eastern Mass. All-Star - the kid saved our butts about one hundred times. Right now we are missing something from last year's team and I think that piece is Jeff," Scanlon said.

Wilmington returns 12 seniors to this year's team including several big guns. They seem to be one of the early on favorites, as they should be, returning from their 17-5-2 overall record that saw them lose to Gateway Regional High in the state championship game, 1-0, at BU. Besides pressure of repeating, this team still has some experienced veterans with a lot of skill and talent, but they also have some lingering questions.

"All three of last year's captains kept the team very focused. And then we lost players like Dave Ward, Scott Swiezynski and Greg Longo and a lot of times players like that are very hard to replace. I'm concerned right now, especially coming off last year's season, with our intensity. Sometimes it's there like it was and sometimes it's not. We have a lot of kids returning, but we also have a lot of younger kids who are going through a learning pro-

"We had a scrimmage the other day against Billerica and through the first half we played really, really well. The only thing we couldn't do was capitalize on our scoring chances and we had a lot of good ones. But in the second half, instead of turning it up a notch, we went completely in the different direction. Why? I don't know. Whether it's conditioning or not, Im not sure," Scanlon said.

Are bigger and better plans attainable?

BY JAMIE POTE Sports Editor

If there was ever a label to be put on an athletic team, then the words "inconsistency" could have easily been stamped on the Wilmington High girls soccer player's heads for last year's season. Some of that wasn't their fault as the injury bug surely spread around, but the elimination in the first round of the state tournament after a .500 record, surely wasn't what the team had planned. This time around the team has bigger and better plans. With that though must come the hard work and the mental aspect to have those goals become attainable. Now if the team stays healthy, and they bring that necessary ethic of play to every game, then maybe, just maybe, this talented squad can make it to who knows what level.

"They know that they have the abilities, they just have to focus every game," said head coach Sue Hendee. "Right now they are looking really good, they are coming alive scoring wise and they are passing and communicating much better. But we haven't played any powerhouse teams in scrimmages, several good teams but no one spectacular. We shall see what happens when we play the better caliber."

Wilmington has a very tough schedule, especially early on and especially in an extremely tough league. That might help them and it might hurt them. Their first three games are on the road, and their first five games are all tough start).

This year's squad has just five of the state tournament to Lynnfield. The two senior returnees are very Dellascio, when healthy, is fantas- come with Dellascio really benefit-

Diane Dellascio is the last in line of the family enriched in soccer, and she seems to have caught on very fast to the high school level. She will be one of the first substitutes to be called upon to give Bruno or Kacumburas a breather. Irving returns after a two-year stint that saw her overcome cancer and then a torn ACL. DeSimone, Hendee hopes, will be more offensive oriented this season as will Lisa Dellascio.

> The key to the scorers will be two of the team's better players in Dellascio and Bruno. Both of them are very much alike. Both are small, with many moves and energy that never turns off. The two of them epitomize work and toughness while having a ton of natural ability. Both of them will probably the majority of her time splitting balanced out.

"To tell you the truth I don't care who scores. Just as long as we do it often enough to win more games," she said.

pre-season scrimmages.

As for the other members of the team, the midfielders will have juniors Arlene Muscofo, Nicole MacIver and Alicia Paquin with senior Kim Hembree and sophomore Kristen Pelletier all sharing the time. The first three have all a good amount of experience and their hustle is instrumental as they will share the left and right sides of the middle half.

Besides Lojek, Jackie Ingram who came on late last year, will once again be the team's stopperback. Chrystie Ross and Lynn Hurley are the other two defenders who will start, while, senior Suzanne Berghaus and sophomores Michele Lemos and Molly Pidgeon will also see some time.

Finally are the netminders. Junior Meredith Cipriani seems to have the starting job all to her own this year. The last two years she saw score the majority of the team's every game with Melissa Mather, goals, but Hendee hopes it will be who would play in the field when Cipriani played between the posts. Mather is gone and another junior who saw limited varsity experience. Val Cwiekowski, remains on crutches and will be out all season long, again. Cipriani certainly takes lot like last year's Lauren Senesi. A advantage of her height and natusmall and quick player, with soft ral abilities as well, and she should passes and touches of brilliance solidify that area especially since

Boys and girls teams short on numbers but not on effort

BY JESSICA MARTIN Sports Correspondent

Over the past few years the Wilm-runners. ington High girls and boys cross-country teams have had dismal runners,the girls' team has lost records, 2-8, 1-9 to name a few.

as suffering from lack of talent or coaching, but the fact is, the crosscountry teams are losing to a lack of participation.

Numbers, especially on the girls' team, have dwindled. This year only a single freshman boy will join the team. The girls' team fares far worse - no recruits this year.

It's not due to a lack of advertising either. Second year head coach Tom Bradley had been down to both of the middle schools last year encouraging the students to give cross-country a chance when they started their Wilmington High School career as well as holding the first meet between the two intermediate schools.

Bradley has coaxed many of the winter and spring female track runners to give cross-country a shot. His efforts have worked to some extent, this year's girls' team con-bare minimum to qualify - just five three of its talented runners, Cheryl One might write these teams off LeCesse, Sarah Powers, and Kristen Bourinot, who all graduated last year. The guys have taken slightly less damage, they lost only one runner, Arthur Moscufo, who graduated last year as well.

This year's additions to the girls' team are Laura Winn, recruited from winter and spring track, Kathleen Haynes and Jessica Garbatti, also recruited from track. Newcomers to the track are Lana Dakin and Lauren Duffy, who have both run before. Co-captains are senior Robin D'Iorio and junior Barb Tate.

The boys' team consists of over 20 runners. The team has retained seven of its eight top runners from last year, seniors Paul Cheney and Kevin Bourinot, juniors Greg Monterro and Ben Degennaro, and sophomore Jason Stark. Also returning for their second years as sists of seven runners instead of co-captains are senior, Jay last year's team, which had the Crescenzo and junior Jay Gillis. All seven of these runners ran in last year's state meet.

Gillis has emerged as one of the top runners around. HIs stride is very smooth, and he makes it look very easy as he coasts past most of the his opponents. Bradley hopes Gillis is just one of the runners who continues to excel this season.

Last year's team went 2-8. This year, Bradley is expecting bigger and better things from his boys' team. He realizes that competition is stiff, but he is hoping to break the .500 mark.

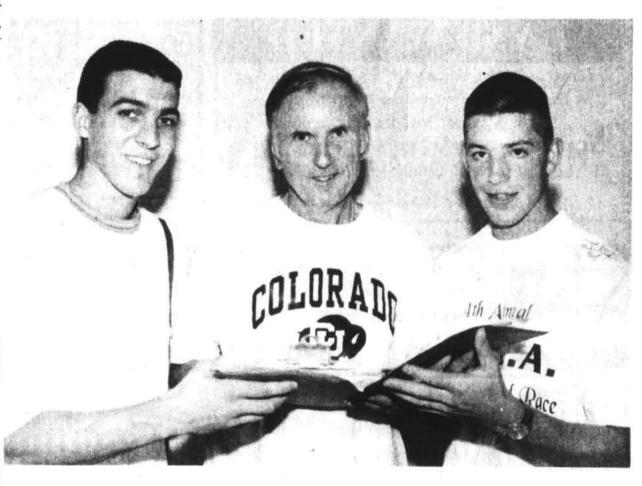

Bradley remains optimistic yet pragmatic, concerning the girls' team. While acknowledging the "numbers problem," he is pushing for a better record than last year's

It seems that cross-country is a dving sport here in Wilmington. The teams must compete with other more publicized sports like soccer, field hockey, football and volleyball. The sports teams are made up of talented runners, which the crosscountry teams could desperately use. Unfortunately, cross-country does not have the allure that other sports do. The fate of the crosscountry teams rest upon the upcoming generations from the middle schools. Last year alone, in the girls' case, it was left up to five of them, something Bradley hopes doesn't happen again.

The cross-country teams will run a practice meet with Newburyport and Methuen this coming Thurs-

This year's Wilmington High girls cross country team hope they can get more athletes out for the team as well as a few more wins under their belt. However, in either case, these co-captains Barbara Tate and Robin D'orio, certainly have done more than their share to help keep this program alive and kicking. (Photo by Joe

Good vibes for new season Teams look good on paper

BY JAMIE POTE Sports Editor

the summer went, the fall weather is here and so is the high school season. With that comes a few athletic teams who will be looking to make some magic once again.

In Wilmington's case, it was the year's magic. The football, field hockey, golf, girls soccer and volleyball teams also did very well, while the cross country teams made giant strides. So what will happen his season? How about a handful of teams surprising us all? Wouldn't that be nice?

I have very good vibes about this season upcoming. The football team is primed and ready to go and they should be one of the top teams around. The offense looks very good, the line could be very good. while, the defense needs to emerge if the team wants to a contender instead of a pretender. The three captains seem to be great choices and if they lead by example, the wins will be second hand, coming very quickly without anyone realiz-

Moving onto the boys soccer team, head coach Dick Scanlon made an interesting comment to me on Monday night. He said that this year's team is missing something from last year's state championship finalist team. He didn't know what the missing piece is, suggesting maybe it was the leadership they got from their tri-captains. Perhaps Scanlon's long-time friend and rival, Steve Levine, the head coach at Tewksbury, has the right motto. He has repeatedly said that a team is only as good at its the biggest difference between good always to the teams.

teams becoming great teams.

Speaking of which, maybe this is Since we are all wondering were the year for the girls soccer team? Last year the team suffered injuries and inconsistencies through the season and its players. If they stay healthy and if they come to play every single game, not to mention having three outstanding playboys soccer team who made last ers controlling each phase of the field, then maybe some serious goals (no pun intended) will be accomplished.

> One of the most memorable teams from last year was the volleyball team, who emerged from nowhere and put forth a fantastic season. What does Mike Nee have up his sleeve this year? Hopefully, some of his key losses won't put too many dents into the program and new players emerge as stars.

> Then there is the golf and the cross country squads. This year seems to mark a record of popularity for the golf team. With 42 kids trying out for 16 spots, this year's team should be very strong from top to bottom. Peter Grasso, Shawn Haubner and a few up and coming freshman should give this program one of its strongest and deepest teams in a long time.

> The cross country teams made giant strides last year, regardless of how many runners they actually had. Jay Gillis and Barbara Tate will be leading the boys and girls teams respectively, and both of them are well worth the admission

Finally, is the field hockey team. Not to single out just one player, but honestly, is there a better female player to watch in the fall than Patrice Mendoza? A superb kid doing a superb job.

Hopefully that will be the case leaders. That has to be the most for many athletes, coaches and underrated statement in sports. I teams as we gear up for a new believe it's totally true. And that's school sports year. Good luck as forwards Justin Vallas and Dennis Ingram, combined for 25 goals last year and they will be looked upon to put the ball in the net and provide the neccesary leadership. The third captain will be Mark DiGiovanni, moving to the sweeper position that Arciero vacated.

"We have a lot of skill. This team moves the ball very well. I'm still not sure who will be taking the corner kicks and the dead ball kicks. And the loss of Pete Bamberg for 2-3 weeks will hurt us too. He was a big part of the success we had last year," Scanlon said.

Bamberg is now in a knee brace after suffering an injury to his ACL. The big kid who brings a lot of charisma to the team as well as a lack for controlling the midfield and a touch of scoring with eight tallies last year, will remain a question through the entire season with his health.

With Scanlon's defensive minded strategy, and the diamond set-up being used once again, the team desperately needs its defense to come together, quickly. Besides those four senior players, other returners who will be looked upon to solidify the defense will be Dan Sweet at stopper-back, Sean Cahill as the defensive midfielder, and netminder T.J. Flynn. All three of them really came on strong towards the end of last season and if the put those efforts in every game this season, this team, on paper, looks very strong. But then again paper

Senior Ryan Covino and sophomore Kevin Forgett will share the left wing midfield spot as of now with the combo of senior Matt Kacamburas and freshman Adam Jensen taking the right side. Both positions are very tough with a lot of running involved and that's why Scanlon thinks he will rotate them. Seniors Kevin Riley and Josh Michaud will also get some minutes floating between midfield and dehustle and determination, that alone should get the team a few wins. Also looking to get some minutes will be juniors Jim Rourke and Joe Kane with sophomores Eric Swiezynski, Jeff Cannon, Tim Riley and Mike Hallas.

Scanlon also said he expects Masconomet, North Andover, Hamilton-Wenham and Lynnfield to be near the top with his squad in the Cape Ann League. He says North Reading is also a good team and on Friday afternoon Wilmington will ge their first test when the team or any team for that matter is Hornets invade the North Intermejunior Darren Arciero. For Wilmington High golf coach, success has seemingly translated into more competition, which in turn should provide additional success. It's the kind of scenario any coach in any sport hopes for, and that currently Al Fessenden is certainly enjoying.

"We had a huge sign-up for golf," said the coach, who has led his team to the state tournament the last three years. "It's great to have the competition out there. At practice time the scores are getting better . . . there's more depth over-

Fessenden had the best of both worlds mixed into that depth: five skilled and seasoned seniors with a batch of underclassmen itching to break into the top six slots.

"We're really top-heavy with seniors," Fessenden said. "I'm expecting them to carry through the way they've been playing the last three years.

So far, so good. Wilmington opened up their '98 season with a bang, toppling North Reading 8-4 in a home match played at Hillview Golf Club in North Reading.

Six golfers from each side engage in a match play format, with two points awarded for a match win and one for a tie. Wilmington took four of the six matches Tuesday to capture the overall win.

Leading the way for the Wildcats was senior Shawn Haubner, whose 1-over par 37 from the number 2 slot earned him the day's medal. Senior Dave Senarian, playing number one for Wilmington,

Wildcat Football predictions

Another winning season for the Cats?

BY JAMIE POTE Sports Editor

For the past few years I've had a lot of fun predicting the Wilmington High football team's record and the scores of every game. Sometimes I was right and sometimes I was dead wrong. And sometimes, I was told, that my predictions helped to get the team fired up for some games. So here we go again.

year's Wildcat football team will be successful. However, there are two teams, Masconomet and Newburyport, who are favored above Wilmington in the Cape Ann League.

Wilmington 20 Ipswich 14 Saturday's opening game will be conversion. a true test. Ipswich is always tough team and the Cats are on the road. If the Cats want to have a successful season, they must open with a win, especially since it is on the road. If they come home with a 'W' that would definitely be a great

The offensive line for Wilmington is inexperienced, but it could be one of the better groups in quit some time. With that, comes a solid threesome in the backfield between Mike Gennetti, Erik Banda and Matt Minghella and all three of them could and should be very productive. Add to that a very good tight end in Dave DeAmato and a very talented wide-out in Sean Quigley and the offense has the makings to put some serious points on the board. But will that happen?

Look for this game to be an exciting battle, with Wilmington pulling it out near the end.

Wilmington 33 Pentucket 6

This one game is one of the reasons why I hate the Cape Ann League. One reason is because no matter what, Pentucket will never be competitive, and two, we all don't come by writing columns. This should be a blow-out, but the two teams do have to play the game.

Wilmington 8 Newburyport 7 This is the game I can't wait for. Last year's game was a fiasco,

FEEL GOD'S LOVE AND THE JOY OF THE SPIRIT

I think that Wilmington will be so pumped up for this game, that they pull off the shocking win. Newburyport has nine of its defenders back from last year's Super Bowl championship team so scoring on them won't come easy.

In this game, I expect Newburyport to score early, and then the Cats defense to hold them I feel really confident that this off the rest of the way. Meanwhile, the Cats offense will struggle until late in the fourth quarter when they get a break, a personal foul on the Clippers on a late hit. With that momentum, the Cats will punch in the winning score and two-point

Wilmington 13 Triton 8

After such a big win, there is always a let down. In this case, Triton is a team on the rise with Ryan O'Connell giving the Cats their biggest scare, but one man shouldn't beat them. If my predictions hold true to this point, this game against Triton could be one of those opponents that the Cats should beat but don't because all of their energy went to the last game. Hopefully that is not the case.

Wilmington 28 No. Andover 15 Their trip back to No. Andover under the lights, should be a winner this time around. The Cats were embarrased last trip when about 5,000 fans watched No. Andover tear the insides out of the Cats. This time around watch for Wilmington to dominate the entire game, with No. Andover scoring two late touchdowns.

Wilmington 41 No. Reading 0 Yawn!

Wilmington 33 Ham.-Wen. 20 Wow, I'm actually predicting the Cats will win their first seven games. Could this be true, a 7-0 start? Only the players, not me, can decide have to travel along way for a that. Look for Wilmington to air it should be blow-out win. But, wins out in this game with one of their two quarterbacks emerging.

Wilmington 35 Lynnfield 12 Late in the fourth quarter, play stops as all of the players hear this loud, loud noise and think its some kind of earthquake, or accident, or meaning with Wilmington's loss and something. But in fact, it's the what happened throughout and af- world's biggest alarm clock trying ter the game. But that is old news. to wake everyone up, including the if they lose the game by a point, team's coaching staffs and of course those in the press box.

Wilmington 18 Amesbury 0

The Cats defense comes up big, with their second shutout on the season. The big news in this game is the team's eleven sacks including four from "SheaDog"

Masconomet 21 Wilmington 20 This is the showdown. This one game will bring many people to it, just like the showdown against No. Andover did a few years back. In this case, Wilmington could and should have beaten them. But a few mistakes cost them, as well as not being able to shutdown Tim Gale, the best of the best in this league. Masco has all of the weapons. Actually I like them a lot beter than Newburyport. Wilmington though, proves that they are one of the top dogs in the CAL as well as proving that their program is finally legit.

Wilmington 31 Tewksbury 28 With two seconds left in the game, Wilmington brings out their ringer as Almeida goes to his bench and calls on his weapon, a player who has been riding the bench all season long. In this case this player was fooling around the day before at practice winning a bet against his friends that he could kick a field goal. Almeida finds out about the bet at halftime, then calls on the player with the game tied and two seconds to go. The kid boots a 25yarder to win the game. All the Wilmington players charge onto the field, just like they did the last time Wilmington beat Tewksbury.

Balanced attack to lead the way

180) and tri-captain Dave DeAmato (6'0 195) will be the two ends. This group could determine the team's "This group is bigger and stronger than the past two year's (teams)," Almeida said. "It was a question going into this season but right now they are jelling really well and the more practice they get. I think they better they will get. "Also Coach [Mike] Barry is a raving lunatic in practice everyday as he is charge of the offensive line. Last year, Coach [Carl] Stauffer was in charge with the line as well as being the defensive co-ordinator and he didn't have much time to make the adjustments with the offensive line between transitions."

Behind the offensive line will be sophomore Josh Hiltz, who battled very fiercely with junior Jeff Coughlin for the starting quarterback spot. Hiltz was named the starter the other day and he brings athleticism, a strong arm and capability of running the team's offense the way it should be run. But, has never taken a varsity snap.

"With Josh at quarterback, we're scheme. He's very good at throw- Gennetti as the linebackers. ing on the run. He's a run and pass threat. He can throw the deep ball and he has a very accurate throwany of us thought he would be at this point," Almeida said.

Hiltz will have plenty of chances to throw the ball too. Sean Quigley is emerging as one of the better receivers around, and he has really developed into one of the better athletes in the school. With him at wide-out, DeAmato at tight end (4 receptions last year for 88 yards) and then the backfield of tri-captain senior Mike Gennetti and junior Eric Banda (they combined for 7 catches and 182 yards last year), a new and exciting element could be added consistently to the of-

"We have a lot of options in that area, I'm very excited about that," Almeida said.

Speaking of depth, Almeida feels that is something they never had and something he hopes he can also

Matt Minghella, who was supoose to be the third hired gun in the packfield, but a broken collarbone has forced him out of action for about a month.

With the injury to Minghella, that means the duo of Gennetti and Banda will carry the load as the backs, instead of the three of them sharing the load. Gennetti is very consistent with his work, and had done just that over the winter work. Banda, on the other hand, is starting to become a dominating player at both a running back and at linebacker. Coincidentally, Gennetti and Banda will be the backfield and the linebackers - both having big responsibilities. Overall the running game is very good, even without the blazing speed of Minghella.

Gennetti should also have another job, being the team's punter and PAT kicker, all which he did very well last year.

On the other side of the ball is the team's defense. The past two years the defense has been a question, somehow blossoming into the team's best strength. Coughlin is the team's right end, with Branley lining up next to him at tackle and the downfall, as of now, is that he the duo of Ryan Clancy and Brian Shea splitting time as the noseguard. Finnerty and Eric Hiltz make up able to utilize our entire offensive the rest of the line, with Banda and Quigley will be the team's free safety and he could excel there. DeAmato will be at strong safety, ing arm. He is further along that Falanga and Matt Senesi are the corners with Jonathan Aprile sharing time at all four spots.

"We have to stay relatively healthy to do anything. If we play the way we are capable of playing, then we will be happy with the results," Almeida said. "We're bigger, faster and stronger than we were last year. We have a well balanced offense attack and we are deeper than we have been. As far as weaknesses go, every team has to work on things. We have to limit the mental mistakes as much as we

This team is loaded with athletes. On paper they might not be as talented as Newburyport or Masco for that matter, but this program evolves around winning when it happens it's contagious, entertaining and certainly instru-

Almeida hopes he can prescribe many orders of that to all of his players starting this weekend.

From time immemorial, emperors, royalty or potentates wanted their names and likeness perpetuated. So, the best sculptors were summoned and commissioned to execute a statue. Because of its durability, "Marble" was generally chosen, thereby ensuring it would endure for centuries. Everyone makes mistakes.

A carpenter today would use, plastic wood or putty to hide his error. Sculptors used a special "WAX" whenever a chisel slipped, perhaps knocking off an ear lobe of the image he was trying to create. The Latin word for wax is "Cerus." The craftsman who was proud of his work would chisel his name at the base of the statue and add the words "Sine Cerus." (without wax.)

Folks, our English word "sincerely" tells the recipients of our letters, cards or notes, that our words, thoughts and sentiments, are indeed Sincere. Genuine and Honest in other words, "WITHOUT WAX!"

dine at the Lord Wakefield during what has become an annual event in Wakefield.

Although the Colonial has recently changed hands it is the longest running hotel in the area, dating back to the 1950's when George Page first opened it on the Colonial Country Club grounds. According to Rooms Director Denise Roaf the 280 rooms in the hotel are frequently sold out from August to October.

The rates run from $99 to $189 and the aforementioned $300 for a suite. The price includes use of an 18 hole golf course, a fitness facility, full service restaurant, room service and a location that is only 20 minutes from Boston.

Starwood Lodging of Phoenix, Arizona bought the property from the Flatley Corporation earlier this year.

Roaf did say that during the slow seasons a room can be reserved with as little as one week of lead time.

The hotels director of marketing, Stephanie Orr noted that the hotel is located on "220 pristine acres of land."

It is very close to the Reedy Meadow Wildlife Sanctuary and Orr noted that with a vendor providing service to Logan Airport it is less expensive to travel the 12 miles to the Hotel on the Lynnfield Wakefield border than it is to go to a downtown Boston hotel.

Also in the luxury hotel class is the Crowne Plaza which. according to Hanson, is popular because of its location.

"People can travel to all areas from here."

Crowne Plaza, opened in 1990 is owned by the Kentucky based Columbia Sussex Corporation. It has 345 rooms available ranging in price from $139 to $179 depending on the season.

With 419 rooms the Burlington Marriott, owned by the Marriott Corporation of Bethesda, Maryland, is the largest of the luxury hotels that responded to our survey.

According to Amanda Anthony, director of marketing, "We offer pretty much everything a guest could want."

That might be the reason for their annual average claim of 80 percent occupancy.

"We are getting ready for our busiest two months, September and October," Anthony said.

can get breakfast (on the weekends), use of an indoor or outdoor pool, two exercise rooms (one with free weight stations and the other for aerobics, a whirlpool and sauna, a daily valet service for laundry and of course room service.

In the rooms the guests can avail themselves of an on demand movie service.

"It is amazing how many people watch movies while they are getting dressed in the morning," Anthony said.

The hotel also offers a concierge floor with breakfast in the morning, and hor's d'ouevres in the evening, an honor bar and desserts.

Many business travellers are in for the long-term stay and they look toward the hotels with convenient suites of rooms.

In this type of hotel the respondents were the Homestead Suites in Burlington, the Residence Inn by Marriott in Tewksbury, the Sierra Suites in Woburn and the Summerfield Suites in Burlington.

The Homestead Suites, owned by Homestead Village of Atlanta Georgia, is the newest facility in the area having opened just last week. It is the one hundredth facility in the chain, with two more coming, one in Marlboro and the other in Waltham.

"The Burlington market right now is a very strong corporate market," said Area Sales Manager Brenda Stockamore.

The hotel has 141 rooms which are guest studios with fully equipped kitchenettes. The price ranges from $89 for one to four nights to $499 week for a long-term stay.

Although it is set up for corporate long term stays, the hotel caters to tourists on weekends.

Sierra Suites also opened over the summer. It is owned by the Summerfield Hotel Corporation of Wichita, Kansas.

Sales Manager Marie Green reports that last month the Sierra's 100 suites were sold out and the forecast is for a busy fall foliage season in September and October.

Guests get a full kitchen, use of a heated pool, a barbecue area and a continental breakfast for their room rates that depend on the length of stay. The range is $135 per-night for one to six nights, $95 per-night for seven to 30 nights and $75 per-night for stays over a month.

Summerfield Suites is owned by Patriot American Hospitality of Dallas, Texas and is another new facility to the area having opened in January.

General Manager Paul Ferguson said that occupancy of the 151 suites is an average of 84 percent and is higher in the summer. The average room rate is $139 per-night during the week Middlesex East Sports

Due to torrential rains the weekend of June 14, the Ipswich River Watershed Association was forced to postpone its annual Run for the River. The beautiful and hopefully dry trails of Bradley Palmer State Park will again be the location for this 5K U.S. track and field sanctioned race, which benefits the Ipswich River Watershed Association.

The new date is Sunday, September 20 at 9:30 am. In addition to the 5K race there will also be a health and fitness walk for non-runners and a fun run for young children. Trophies will be awarded to the overall winners and medals to those in the kids, masters and seniors age groups. The many prizes that have been donated by local merchants will be raffled off and the first 75 registrants will receive t-shirts. The entry fee is $15 for adults and $8 for children. All proceeds will be used towards programs to protect the Ipswich River.

The race is sponsored by EBSCO Publishing of Ipswich.

and $99 per-night on weekends.

At Summerfield the guest receives a full suite with kitchen and "large living area." The kitchen contains a full stove and refrigerator complete with utensils. Other amenities include a managers reception on Monday through Thursday nights and a continental breakfast daily, as well as pool, jacuzzi, sports bar and barbecue area.

Tewksbury has the original of the long-term facilities in this area. Owned by the Marriott Corporation of Washington, D.C. the eight year-old Residence Inn By Marriott has 130 suites.

For rooms ranging from $89 per-night to $149 depending on the number of bedrooms, the guest receives a kitchen with living area and one or two bedrooms and bath.

There is a free continental. breakfast and free hor's d'ouevres.

In between the luxury hotel and the suite facilities are places like the Best Western Lord Wakefield in Wakefield.

The 89 room hotel offers their guests a full service restaurant and lounge, a the ability to walk around Lake Quannapowitt.

"No other hotel in the area has that," General Manager Lisa Stuber said.

The hotel has been a Best Western facility since 1991 and is owned by Finch Hotels and Resorts of Falmouth. For the past several years, a group of Russian Generals and commanding officers attending a two week seminar at Harvard University's Kennedy School of Law has traipsed out to Wakefield for a tour of a typical small American town. Part of that tour has been lunch at the Best Western.

After that come facilities such as Susse Chalets in Woburn and Tewksbury a Red Roof Inn in Woburn and several other facilities that did not return telephone calls.

The Susse Chalet in Tewksbury has 132 rooms with rates ranging from $55 to $78 depending on the number of days and people.

With an indoor pool the Woburn Susse Chalet charges $79.70 per-night.

Parents of infants meet to form play groups

Parents of Tots invite parents of infants, toddlers and preschoolers, who are interested in forming playgroups, to a meeting on Saturday, September 19, from 10 am to 12 noon in the Lecture Hall (ground level) of the Wakefield (Beebe) Public Library, 345 Main Street, Wakefield.

This is an opportunity to meet families from Wakefield, Reading, Stoneham and surrounding communities with similar interests. The purpose of the playgroups is to provide socialization for children, and support for moms and dads facing the stresses, and sometimes isolation, of parenting. Groups typically consists of four to six families, and meet regularly at each others' homes on a rotating basis, or at a park in the warm weather.

Parents of Tots is a non-profit organization that meets on the second Wednesday of each month from September through June. Parents who have children ages infant through pre-school (0-6) meet to socialize, exchange ideas on parent and child related issues, and plan activities and events for children, families and couples.

Parents who would like to attend the September 19th meeting do not need to be members of Parents of Tots, and there is no charge. Children are welcome at the meeting.

For more information, call Parents of Tots' Playgroup Coordinator, Alisa MacFail, at 781-942-3676.

Just 'round the bend from Wakefield

"Supt. Dr. Carl Batchelder confirmed a candidate has been named to fill the position of director of building facilities," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"K. Roy Robblee of Wakefield has been appointed to the job left vacant last spring when former director Frank Accolla left to oversee building projects in Everett....

"Robblee was selected from a field of 30 initial applicants.

"Batchelder said the search committee, made up of a School Committee member, the superintendent, the school business manager, a school principal, a custodial-maintenance representative and a parent selected 10 candidates for interviews, then conducted finalist interviews with four candidates.

"'Mr. Robblee emerged as our final choice,' said Batchelder.

"Batchelder said he had hoped to bring the top choice to meet the School Committee before the appointment was officially made.

"However, he said, 'because there was really an urgency to get someone appointed and on board where he had to give a resignation,' he called committee members to inform them of the appointment...."

Facilities planning in Woburn

"The firm of Earl R. Flansburgh & Associates, Inc., of Boston has been selected for the schools architectural facilities study," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Flansburgh was the unanimous choice of a proposal review committee, made up of school and city officials.

"At $94,000, the firm's financial bid fell within the funding appropriation and is expected to be awarded the study contract.

"A special meeting of the School Committee was set...for officials to give the firm 'a vote of confidence.'

"The study will include an extensive review of the 10 schools in the system, their physical plant, enrollment projections, educational programming needs (i.e., computer labs, art rooms, early childhood education, etc.) and handicapped accessibility issues. "The firm will delineate the options and costs associated with each and work with an established committee to select an option and build consensus around it.

"The options may range from merely renovating existing buildings, to building new ones or many combinations in between.

"Flansburgh will work with the city to communicate with the public, decide on funding options, and guide it through the state reimbursement application process...."

Reading, writing, and Reading

"The results of the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills taken by third graders within the Reading school system have been released, and they show a three point drop over last year's scores for the district as a whole," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The Reading third graders scored a 73 national percentile ranking, down three points from last year's scores. Individually, three of the four elementary schools in town experienced drops in their scores.

"Here is the school-by-school breakdown, along with the 1997 scores (all percentages given refer to the percentile rank that the school system placed in):

"The District as a whole scored 29 percent in Advanced Reading (down from 34 percent in 1997), 54 percent in Proficient Reading (up from 52 percent in 1997), and 16 percent in basic Reading (up from 12 percent in

"Knockoff" a ripoff!!

MOVIE: "Knockoff" GRADE: *

Review: This latest Jean Claude Van-Damme movie should have been titled "Ripoff" because that's the way you feel after you realize it it cost you $7.75 and nearly two hours of your time on Earth to view it.

Van Damme once again plays a hero who is a martial arts expert, and soon the fists and feet start flying for no particular reason, other than to allow him to appear onscreen in yet another mindless action movie. No plot summary is necessary here, because it is the same as any of the other mind-numbing movies he has made over the years.

Comedian Rob Schneider does provide some comic relief, and while Lela Rochon is certainly easy on the eyes, its hard to figure out exactly why she is included in the plotline.

SHORTTAKES MOVIE: "54" GRADE: **

Review: The homage to the most decedent club of the 1970's. Studio 54, tries to recreate the party atmosphere that occurred there on a weekly basis, but falls

Studio 54 was the place where the rich went to party, and the not-so-famous went to be near the the well-known, if only for a few hours. The parties held there have since become legendary, with booze and drugs flowing there freely on a regular basis.

Despite a strong performance by Michael Myers as the clubs creator, and one by Neve Campbell as a girl caught between real life and glitzy nightlife at the club, the best part about this movie is the soundtrack of 70's music. Anyone who's in the mood to feel nostalgic should simply sit back, close their eyes, and listen to the music rather than watch the film (or better yet, just dust off some of those records that are sitting in the basement and fire up the turntable).

Rated: R Length: 102 minutes

MOVIE: "BLADE" GRADE: ***

Review: Wesley Snipes plays a vampire killer who is also half-vampire in this actionpacked futuristic thriller.

Snipes is half-human, half vampire, and is also mankind's only hope against stopping a band of vampires, led by Stephen Dorff, who are bent on breaking an age-old rule and have begun taking over the world. The age-old rule is that humans and vampires have coexisted for centuries, with one feeding off the other, but with an understanding that no group will become too powerful over the other one.

Snipes uses top-notch weapons, as well as acrobatic skills, to defeat the vampires, and the action scenes are well-choreographed and thought out.

The plot is interesting until the final half-hour, when this becomes just another formulaic action movie. Snipes is good as the hard-bodied, hot-headed hero, though, and the stunts make this one worth seeing.

Rated: R Length: 104 minutes

MOVIE: "SNAKE EYES" GRADE: ***

Review: While not one of Brian DePalma's best films, this movie does have enough twists to keep the viewer interested until the end.

Atlantic City cop who isn't downhill from there. adverse to taking a payoff or two, and who is on scene when the U.S. Secretary of State is murdered at a boxing match. His best friend, played by Gary Sinise, is the head of security for the dignitary's trip, and when Cage begins to investigate the murder, he begins to suspect that a conspiracy exists and is surprised to find out who is involved, and the lengths those individuals will go to to keep their plan a secret.

The plot isn't all that original, but Sinise and Cage give strong performances which help to make up for the deficiencies.

MOVIE: "HALLOWEEN: H20"

GRADE: 1/2 ***

Review: That's right, the rating on this one is half a star. The amazing thing, besides the fact that this ridiculous film got the green light from a studio head at all, is that somehow Jamie Lee Curtis agreed to star in it. The plot is pointless, the dialogue moronic, and the only thing that's scary about this socalled horror film is that someone is willing to charge you $7:75

Here is an actual scene from the movie: Character who will soon be killed off, reacting to the fact that deranged murderer Michael Myers is on a killing spree once again - "So what do we do now?" Jamie Lee Curtis responds, "Try to stay alive." Scenes like this one will certainly make the judges sit up and take notice come Oscar time later this year.

Curtis had a breakthrough role in the original "Halloween" movie 20 years ago, and this one tries to make the viewer believe that even though she has moved to California, faked her own death, changed her name, and is living in a secluded private school, somehow Michael Myers is able to immediately head from Illinois to her exact location and start killing folks again 20 years after his first rampage. The plotline starts at a level of Nicholas Cage plays an absurdity, and quickly goes > Fans who may be drawn to the film because Kevin Williamson, the man who created "Scream" and "Scream 2" supposedly had a hand in it should stay away, because it is a waste of time.

MOVIE: "THERE'S SOME-THING ABOUT MARY" GRADE: *****

Review: This movie is the funniest, laugh-till-it-hurts comedy to come around in a long time, and is sure to leave you with tears in your eyes once the house lights come up. Having. said that, here's a warning: this brand of comedy isn't for every-

The Farrelly brothers, Bobby and Peter (who were responsible for hits like 'Dumb and Dumber' and 'Kingpin') have done it again, taking a situation comedy and pushing the limits. of both comedy and decency.

Ben Stiller is very funny as a man who still hasn't lost his feelings for a girl he had one (almost) date with in high school, and Cameron Diaz (who plays the title character Mary) puts in a very good performance as the object of his affection.

Overall, the movie is very funny, but some people may find the humor a bit too obnoxious for their taste.

Enhance your curb appeal

Compare two identical houses in the same neighborhood, and the one with the best landscaping will sell first. In a competitive market, landscaping gives home sellers an edge, says the American Nursery & Landscape Association (ANLA).

Hire a landscape professional if you plan to sell within a year. Lawns that receive professional attention three to five times a year will look sharp when the house enters the market. Landscaping should be attractive, not complicated. "Home buyers react favorably to a park-like setting. Your goal is a beautiful yard that looks easy to care for," says Carr. Most buyers are not landscape exerts, but they do look for quality. Buyers in some markets may favor Bermuda lawns or hardwood trees, for example.

Fast fixes come in handy when selling in a hurry. You've been transferred-you move next month and you've got enough on your mind without worrying about curb appeal, a trip to the garden center and a few hours labor may translate into a quicker sale. Dress up beds and around trees with a fresh layer of mulch. Place several containers of colorful annuals at the house entrance for a favorable first impression. Green up your lawn with fertilizer or overseed with rye grass. Trim back shrubbery for a neat appearance. Any landscape gets a lift from mowing, weeding and edg-

Deleading program offers interest free loans

Do you own a home that still has lead paint in it and cannot afford to have it removed? The Assisted Living Center, Inc. may be able to help you secure an interest free loan for your single to four family home.

According to Joseph Brown, mortgage and loan manager for the Assisted Living Center, money for lead paint removal is available through the Get the Lead Out Program sponsored by the Massachusetts Home Finance Agency (MHFA). "We realize the importance of deleading the many homes across the state and the health problems which lead paint poses especially on young children" says Brown.

This special loan program provides an opportunity to resolve the lead paint problem in our homes with money from the government, at 0 percent interest, and does not have to be repaid until the house is sold sometime in the future. Opportunities like this don't

MAR supports regulation of

The Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR) expressed general support for a just released legislative report that recommends governmental regulation of the state's home inspection industry. The report, issued by the Senate Post Audit & Oversight Committee, urges the state Legislature to adopt new licensing and continuing education requirements for home inspectors, while also establishing minimum insurance and referral standards through legislation.

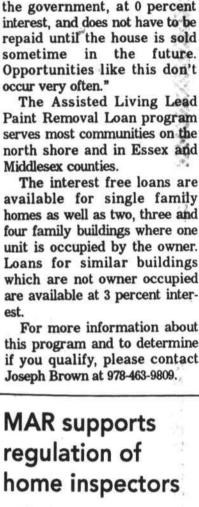

"Housing is such a huge investment today that consumers have the right to expect their home inspection is being performed by a knowledgeable, well-trained individual," said MAR President Mary E. Crowley. "To increase consumer protection and professionalism, you need rules. We've actively supported increased licensing requirements and ongoing education for all real estate agents, and we think similarly reasonable standards for home inspectors are also appropriate."

During a public hearing on the issue in May, concern also had been raised about the home inspector referral process, but the Committee has concluded that prohibition on referrals between real estate agents and home inspectors is unnecessary. Instead, the report calls for the development and distribution of

It's buying time

Strong demand for multi-units

Sales of two-, three- and fourfamily homes rose 5.4 percent in Massachusetts during the first quarter of 1998, increasing from 1.096 units closed in the first three months of 1997 to 1,155 in the same period this year, according to data compiled by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR). The increase marks the eleventh consecutive quarter in which multifamily home sales have improved in the Bay State over the same period one year earlier, MAR's report said.

"The multifamily market continues to gain popularity, especially in multi-ethic urban settings where immigrants and first-time buyers are purchasing nomes to escape soaring rent prices," observed MAR President Mary E. Crowley. "In several major cities throughout metropolitan Boston and Worcester County, where apartment vacancy rates are quite low and rents have risen an average of 13 percent this past year, the demand for two- to four-family properties has been particularly strong," she stated.

During the first three months of this year, sales rose sharply in both central Massachusetts and greater Boston, where multifamily home sales increased 18.2 percent and 17.6 percent respectively in the first quarter of 1998 as compared to the same period last year. Sales also increased by 5.1 percent in the South Shore region from January to March this year versus the same period in 1997, and remained stable in western Massachusetts and on Cape Cod and the islands.

The MAR report also found the total dollar volume for multifamily homes sales increased 18.5 percent during the first quarter, climbing from $134,496,045 in the first three months a year ago to $159,319,425 in the same period in 1998. While price comparisons are not available for two-, threeand four-family homes separately, the overall increases in dollar volume suggests the average value of multifamily property has risen 12.4 percent statewide since the first quarter of 1997.

Your home: Q & A

Q: I would like information decline regarding urea formaldehyde foam insulation (UFFI) in walls. We are thinking of buying a house and are afraid of settling on something not knowing if formaldehyde is present.

A: UFFI was installed in most homes during the 1970s, but was banned in 1982 by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission for use in schools and homes. The commission banned the material after reviewing test data that linked formaldehyde fumes to cancer in rats and mice. The ban was later overturned by a U.S. Court of Appeals. By that time, however, most of the contractors installing the material had gotten out of the business.

During and after installation of UFFI, formaldehyde levels lab.

Although rapidly. people vary in their susceptibility to formaldehyde, most healthy adults would not experience ill effects from exposure below .1 parts per million. And since a house containing the insulation would probably have had it installed years ago, any vapors from the insulation would probably be negligible.

Formaldehyde is widely used in many other products such as plywood, cleboard, chipboard, partiplastic laminates, cosmetics, cleaners and paper products. It is possible that the air in the house could have a formaldehyde concentration from these products.

If you are concerned about this, have the air tested for formaldehyde by a certified
